THE DIFFERENCE.

What is called the Industrial Army proposes to march to Washington to demand of Congress the passage of certain relief measures. Detachments of this army have been organized in Ohio and other Eastern States and in California. They propose to unite in one grand body at the National Capital and ask Congress to enact laws that will mitigate the distress now prevalent from Maine to Texas and from the Atlantic to the Pacific. The originators of this movement are, so far as is known, law-abiding citizens, men who are willing to work for living wages. It is possible and, in fact, very probable, that before the Army reaches Washington, should it ever succeed in doing so, that it may have in its rear a rough lot of camp followers whose object may be to plunder instead of impressing upon Congress the necessity of legislation in the interest of the masses. Wall Street, of course, ridicules the idea of men out of employment and unable to bear the expense of the journey massing at Washington to ask the Congress of the United States to pass relief measures.

But the Congress of the United States has passed an act to coin the silver bullion now owned by the Government into legal tender money. This act, if carried into effect, will increase the volume of money in the United States $55,000,000, and place that amount in the depleted treasury without interest or expense, except the cost of coinage, and as the mint employees are paid whether they work or play, the additional expense will be nominal. As the coinage of the bullion will obviate, for a time, at least, the necessity of issuing more bonds for money to pay government expenses and increase the amount of money in circulation, it is objectionable to Wall Street. The money kings, therefore, propose to storm the Capital and appeal to the President to veto the obnoxious seigniorage bill. Notice of their intention was telegraphed to the Capital and Private Secretary Thurber informed the Wall Street Brigade that the President would hear their complaint if they visited the Capital, but advised them to stay at home.

Not a word of disapproval of the course of the Wall Street Brigade appears in the organs of the "Combination," though many of them are severe in their comments on the proposed march of the Industrial Army to Washington. From their standpoint, it is all right for the goldmen to go to Washington to entreat the President to veto a bill passed by the representatives of the people to partially relieve the financial stranguency, but absolutely wrong for the unemployed to visit Washington to ask the representatives of the people to pass measures that will at least partially relieve the general distress.

It is such discrimination as this between the millionaire and the laborer, the plutocrat and the pauper, when both are acting within the law, that leads to communism and encourages anarchy.

MR. FULTON ON FINANCE.

Mr. Fulton in a communication in a other column denies that money gets its value from legislation instead of the materials from which it is made, in fact he denies that the law says the value of a piece of money shall be one dollar, but says the name of it shall be one dollar and leaves it to commerce and the needs of business to regulate its value.

The Constitution of the United States, Article I, Section 8, says the Congress shall have power "to coin money and regulate the value thereof. A disk containing 412½ grains of standard silver coined at the United States mint is money, and the Congress of the United States says the value of that money is one dollar. The Congress of the United States says a disk containing 67.87 grains of copper and 19.29 grains of nickel, bearing the impress of the United States mint is money and its value shall be five cents. In both of these cases the Congress of the United States regulates the value of the money, as the Constitution empowers it to do. In both these cases the money "obtains its value from legislation, not from the materials from which it is made," as in the case of the dollar the material is not worth 52 cents at the present time, and in the case of the five-cent piece the material is not worth two cents.

These are facts which all the sophistry of the goldmen cannot disprove. Congress is empowered by the Constitution to coin money and regulate the value thereof, and, as is shown in the above instances, it exercises that power on occasion regardless of the material of which the money is made.

The laws of trade may determine to a great extent the purchasable power of the dollar and five-cent piece, that is the quantity of any commodity that the money will buy, but the laws of Congress fix the value of the coins.

THE BLACK RECORD.

Senator Jones, in his great speech at the extra session of Congress, gives the black record of the Wall street parties in converting the money of the country into bonds. The total amount of the bonds issued was $2,049,975,700, and the Senator says:

"The amount received by the Government for those bonds was less than $1,400,000,000, or to be exact, $1,371,424,238, being on an average for the entire issue 67 per cent of their face value. These bonds would have been honestly paid in lawful money, except that coin was prescribed for the payment of interest. For the $1,400,000,000 received by the Government of the United States there have already been paid back to the bondholders in principal alone $1,766,000,000, being $385,000,000 more than was altogether received. Besides there have been paid as interest on the debt $2,538,000,000, or nearly twice the amount received. There have been paid as a premium on bonds bought in $58,000,000. So that for the $1,400,000,000 received there has been paid $4,352,000,000."

THE POLLARD-BRECKENRIDGE CASE.

Affidavits in Behalf of Defendant.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—The Pollard-Breckenridge trial was resumed this morning with reading of affidavits on behalf of defendant. The first one read was that of Sister Augustine of the Norwood Convent Asylum, where it is alleged Miss Pollard was first confined. Sister Augustine, like Sister Agnes, whose affidavit was read yesterday, failed to recognize Miss Pollard as ever having been an inmate of the asylum. The only Louise Wilson ever in the institution gave birth to a child there last fall. During the time Miss Pollard alleged she was there, there was a young woman who kept veiled most of the time and claimed to be from a Northern State. The attorney read the name by inadvertence. He then explained that Sister Augustine had only given the name on condition that it be kept secret.

Entries on the convent books under the name of Miss Burgoyne, correspond with the dates which Miss Pollard and Dr. Street gave of her admittance to the asylum, birth of the child and her departure. Miss Burgoyne visited the asylum twice afterwards. When told of the death of the child she threw up her hands and ran from the room, but when she returned there was no evidence of grief in her face.

The second deposition read was by Lena Schmidt, employed for eight years in the Norwood Convent, who had no recollection of a woman in the convent in 1885 under the name of Louise Wilson, and she had never seen Madeline Pollard until last December. According to her remembrance Miss Pollard said of her motive for the suit: "I did it for justice and to disgrace Breckenridge."

Dr. W. D. Decourcy, physician at Norwood Convent, deposed that he did not know Madeline Pollard or Louise Wilson, but there had been a girl in the convent named Wilson in 1884 and 1885, whose first name he did not remember and whose face he would not recognize. He had looked over the books of the asylum and found no record of Louise Wilson. At times a special physician attended the patients at the hospital if they so requested. One girl who gave birth to a child had her face veiled, because she claimed that Dr. Decourcy knew her. There have been 500 children born at the asylum. Dr. Decourcy had not been cross-examined.

The deposition of O. G. Brown, President of the Quinn Valley College, Ohio, son of the President of Wesleyan Seminary, which Miss Pollard attended, was read. He was a young man in the years of Miss Pollard's schooling, but from records of the school testified that her bills had been paid by James C. Rhodes. One note by Rhodes for $135, given in 1885, had been paid only in a small part. Dependent often visited Rhodes to press him for payment, but the latter begged off, representing that he was hard up, and that the expenses were greater than he expected they would be.

Miss Pollard was in the habit of claiming relationship or friendship with the most prominent people of Kentucky, among them the Breckinridges and Blackbourns. This had grown into a joke at the school, so that the visit of Breckinridge, being unexpected, impressed itself upon him as a corroboration of her claims. Witness remembered that Breckinridge had taken Miss Pollard driving. By the scholars Miss Pollard was jokingly called "Madeline Vivian Bill Breckinridge Joe Blackburn Pollard."

After the noon recess Judge Bradley announced that the Court would adjourn to-night until Monday, on account of Good Friday.

Brown's evidence was continued: Rhodes looked like an honest old farmer. Witness never heard anything of the relations between Miss Pollard and Professor Overmeyer, except in a letter to Bessie Brown that she (Miss Pollard) was consumed by an undying love for him.

Witness testified that according to his recollection, based on his diary, Breckinridge had not visited Miss Pollard on August 2, and had never but once. He had been criticised for permitting Miss Pollard to go riding with Breckinridge by those in authority at the school.

At the session of the Bimetallio League at Des Moines speeches were made by Ignatius Donnelly and others. The Administration was roundly scored, and Chief Arthur's resistance to the courts and Master Workman Sovereign's orders were approved.

Yesterday at Denver the contempt proceedings against Messrs. Van Horn, Mullen and Burress were continued before Judge Glyn. The Supreme Court received the briefs presented by the attorneys for Governor Waite, in the city hall case. The court expects to render an opinion Saturday.

A GOLDBUG CONSPIRACY.

Facts for the People to Consider.

The goldbug Demo-Republican press is trying to make it appear that the country is rapidly paying off the debts which the corporations and people owe to European bondholders, and, to prove the assertion, they say that the balance of trade the first seven months of the present fiscal year was $90,000,000 in our favor, and we practically took that amount in stocks and bonds. To a person who is not familiar with the tactics of the bondholders this assertion seems very plausible, but to a person who has kept one eye on the professional bondholder the assertion is very erroneous. In the first place the goldbug press ignore the item of interest on bonds and dividends on stocks which is due the European bondholders. At a very conservative estimate these shrewd Europeans hold upwards of $5,000,000,000 of American stocks and bonds, and it requires at least $250,000,000 yearly to pay the interest and dividends. If the balance of trade for the year is $150,000,000 in our favor we would still lack $100,000,000 of paying the interest. Now, how is this balance settled? We cannot spare that amount of gold; hence it must be paid in more bonds and stocks.

The subsidized goldbug press is well paid for deceiving the people about finance and it has been left for the Populists to hunt up the bondholders' records and expose their gigantic scheme to enslave mankind. England was the first country to make the discovery that the bond system was much better for the aristocracy than the slave system and the name slave was becoming very obnoxious to an enlightened race, so they inaugurated a change from slaveholder to bondholder. The people were kept densely ignorant on finance and the bondholders succeeded in placing their bonds on a very confiding public. The bondholders kept increasing their demands until the burden became greater than the people could stand and now the people have begun to kick. The European bondholders realize that it is impossible for the people of this country to pay their interest in gold; hence they will collect it in the same materials they do in Egypt, which are wheat and cotton. The British navy is behind the cottonholding aristocracy and has forced Egypt to pay in wheat and cotton at any price the bondholders name. This country will soon be in the same fix that Egypt is in unless we inaugurate a financial policy independent of Europe. Under Demo-Republican management the United States Treasury Department is simply a branch office of the bondholding aristocracy and the bondholders will not allow any Democrat or Republican to be nominated for President who will not uphold them in their efforts to enslave the people.

At Kalamazoo, Mich., yesterday Stonewall Jackson De France was found guilty of forgery. The case is a very famous one. In November, 1891, a man giving the name of Lewis Forrest presented a forged draft on the First National Bank of that city and obtained $5,000 on it. The question at issue was whether De France and Forrest were not the same person.

Saved Her Life.

Mrs. C. J. Woodbridge, of Wortham, Texas, saved the life of her child by the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

"One of my children had Croup. The case was attended by our physician, and was supposed to be well under control. One night I was startled by the child's hard breathing, and on going to it found it straining. It had nearly ceased to breathe. Realizing that the child's alarming condition had become possible in spite of the medicines given, I reasoned that such remedies would be of no avail. Having part of a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in the house, I gave the child three doses at short intervals, and anxiously waited results. From the moment the Pectoral was given, the child's breathing grew easier, and in a short time, she was sleeping quietly and breathing naturally. The child is alive and well today, and I do not hesitate to say that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral saved her life."

An Early Morning Fire.

Yesterday morning about 4 o'clock, after the JOURNAL had gone to press, the fire alarm sounded, the flames being located after considerable searching in a pile of lumber in Frank Payne's yard, where an old man named James McKay had a shanty. His bed-clothes had caught fire doubtless from a pipe or match. A few buckets of water put out the flames.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed, you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out of this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. In such cases our eyes are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

We will give one hundred dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

BREVITIES.

Charley May went to California last evening.

W. E. F. Deal of Virginia City visited Reno yesterday.

Judge Webster left last night for San Francisco, to be absent a few days.

Two carloads of cattle and four of sheep were shipped from Reno to San Francisco yesterday.

Mrs. B. F. Layton left for San Francisco last night to visit friends and look at the Midwinter Fair.

Rev. T. P. Bradshaw officiated at the funeral of C. M. Cobb, which took place at Franktown yesterday.

George Mara, an Indian who was pardoned out of the State prison not long ago, died yesterday of consumption.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Leste left for San Francisco last night to see their grand child and take a look at the Midwinter Fair.

Mrs. C. A. LaGrave of Winnemucca and her son, Clovis, arrived here yesterday on the afternoon train and left on last night's train for San Francisco.

Madam Beaglehole announces that she has returned from San Francisco with a fine line of spring millinery which she invites the ladies to call and inspect.

W. E. Cobb of Verdi came down from Franktown last evening where he went to attend the funeral of his father Clement M. Cobb, returning home on last night's west-bound.

Ex-Congressman Woodburn's opinion of the Republicanism of the Gazette Company will have very interesting reading. Would the "brains and brag" of the Company like an installment of it?

Colonel H. B. Maxson and children have returned from the Midwinter Fair. He says there was a large attendance at the Fair on Ireland's Day (St. Patrick's Day) and the price of admission was reduced to 25 cents.

Three prisoners in the Comstock jail induced the officers to believe that they were suffering with scarlet fever by applying croton oil to their persons. While being removed to the county hospital they escaped.

Have you noticed the fine line of spring goods that M. Nathan, the pioneer clothier, has lately been receiving? He has some of the noblest suits seen in this section for some time. You will find the goods marked way down and receive most courteous treatment at Nathan's. His new ad. in another column gives some idea of what he has to sell.

On the first of next July the new law in regard to money orders goes into effect. Instead of postal notes the new bill creates a money order system by which orders can be obtained at rates as low as those now charged by express companies. For orders not exceeding $2.50 the charge is three cents, and the fee increases until it is thirty cents for sums over $75 and under $100.

A Lovelock dispatch says large freight wagons loaded with matte arrived from the smelter of the White Cloud copper company. The consignment, which is made to the Electrolytic works of E. L. Smith, at Ansonia, Connecticut, marks an epoch in the base metal industry of Nevada as demonstrating the profitability of that kind of mining which heretofore was given but little attention to by local miners.

The outside goldbug papers seem to suffer more concern for the doings of Governor Waite than do the people of Colorado. Several prominent Colorado papers claim that Governor Waite, if an election was to take place there to-day, could be his own successor. The goldbug papers, however, are so much exercised over the independent action of the Populists that they now chronicle the political persuasion of every suicide, rogue, defaulter or bankrupt if by chance he is a Populist, or worse they are observantly silent upon the matter.

COLORADO'S GOVERNOR

Honest in his Attempt to Stop Police Corruption.

The San Francisco Call prints the following interview with Byron E. Shear, a prominent citizen of Colorado, now on a visit to San Francisco, which throws much light on the Denver troubles:

"There is something back of this Police Board muddle in Denver which those who are opposed to Governor Waite are keeping quiet," said Byron E. Shear of Denver of the Palace yesterday. Mr. Shear is an old-time Coloradoan, who is largely interested in the mines of that State, owning a part of the famous Mollie Gibson mine of Aspen and having other mining properties in St. Elmo and Creede. "Gambling is carried on with doors wide open in Denver and the police seem to make no effort to suppress it. There is ample law to suppress gambling in Colorado if the statutes are only enforced. Governor Waite is a moral man. He believes that gambling is an offense that should not be tolerated. The merchants of Denver are inclined to wink at gambling because the people who come in from the surrounding towns drop their dollars at the gambling tables and Denver is enriched by that much more money put into circulation."

"But Denver has ceased to be Colorado, or to speak for Colorado," continued Mr. Shear. "Governor Waite was acting within his constitutional rights when he removed Messrs. Orr and Martin of the Fire and Police Board. If he did not have the right to remove them then he did not have the right to remove the former board. After assuming office Governor Waite appointed Messrs. Phelps, Stone and Martin as the Fire and Police Board. There course was not satisfactory and he removed the former two, leaving Mr. Martin still a member. Now he removes Mr. Martin and Mr. Orr, one of the recent appointees, which is but following a precedent which was acquiesced in before."

Mr. Shear took a very active interest in politics during the Presidential campaign. He left the Republican party and joined the Populists, and was largely instrumental in securing Governor Waite's election. He says that he is not sorry that he did so, and that at the next election he will do all in his power to defeat the Republicans and elect the Populist.

Governor Waite, he says, is not a madman by any means; the Populist party has not been disrupted by his action and will support him for re-election if he desires that honor.

Mr. Shear admitted that there might be a little bit of politics in the Governor's recent actions, but he thought it was honest politics. He was opposed by most of the papers of Denver, but he succeeded in spite of them. He was an editor himself, and so far as politics was concerned had been a politician before those who were now opposing him were born.

Gov. Waite's ability as a politician had been greatly underestimated, Mr. Shear thought. If an election was to be held to-morrow he declared that the Governor would sweep the State.

THE SAZERAC CLUB.

A. C. Helms Awarded the Leather Medal.

The Sazerac Lying Club held its semi-occasional meeting last evening in the Comfort Tonsorial Parlors. The genial Al Helms won the leather medal as the champion liar present and the decoration was hung upon his manly breast by his Major Domo, Bob Jones.

Al declared, with tears in his eyes in his effort to impress upon his auditors the truth of his statement, that when he was a boy about eighteen years old he was a resident of some long-winded county in Wisconsin. Near his father's house was a pond about five miles long and two wide, which was at certain seasons of the year covered with ducks which were at all times so wild that no hunter could get near enough to them to kill any. After vain attempts to bag a brace for several seasons, Al's mother watered so much that he one day hauled a load of pumpkins off the farm and dumped them into the lake.

No one knew what he intended to do with them, and as he was never known to do anything before, he barely escaped a commission being appointed to examine into his lunacy.

A stay of proceeding was granted, as he appeared to eat his meals regularly and otherwise seemed to be in his normal condition.

The pumpkins, however, were placed in the lake as a part of a deep laid scheme which had found lodgement in his fertile craneum.

The ducks were very shy of them for a long while, but finally swam up to and around them in the most unceremonious manner imaginable. When this happy desideratum had arrived Al one day selected a very large pumpkin out in his father's pumpkin orchard, extracted its insides and after cutting eyeholes and another hole big enough to put his head through, he undressed and boldly swam out into the lake. The ducks appeared not to mind him and he began pulling them down by the legs one after another and wringing their necks under water. This process continued until 152 ducks were captured.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

A PATHETIC APPEAL.

Who cares for free coinage, or anything else, when the struggle in life is to help one's self? We are going to organize over once more. For, if we don't, we'll be driven out of door.

So hurry up, Mr. Goldberg, don't tarry long. For we're sorely distressed, and everything's wrong. The Silverites are earnest, they know they are right. Their war paint is on; they're ready for fight.

We're a fine lot of fellows, and have a nice place; To go to work now would be a disgrace. You know where to find us, so do not wait. We're banded together in the Capital of the State.

We're nice clever gentlemen with lily-white hands, We attend the Opera with the ladies of the land. We play croquet in the shade of the trees, And lounge around to enjoy the fresh breeze.

But self preservation is the first law of nature, And the Free Silver Party is a troublesome creature, That sprung up so sudden with magic and might. The wrongs of the people determined to right.

We've taken a stand, and barricaded the door, Coffin and Bartine are clamoring for the floor. The Governor and State officials are marching along, Trying to keep step to the old Tariff song.

Unless Wall Street assists us surely we'll fail, The cup of disappointment will be wormed out of wood and cal. Unless we get office we'll have to migrate Far over the mountains from the "Sage-brush State."

We're all after office, there'll be enough to go round, Provided we leave out the "Riverside Town." There are Foley and Fulton, and those fellows down there Have all been boycotted by the Capitol Square.

They're enlisting recruits down by the bridge, And will fire a volley from over the ridge; Many old hawks will stand up to the rack, Provided they get their share of the "sack."

Once more we beseech you with petition and prayer, To help us again, or else we'll despair. For the Silverites are ready, equipped for the fray, So don't tarry long, don't stay away.

We love you so dearly, you we almost adore, Because you've helped us so often before. Now surely we need you, so lend us a hand. We've no one to lead us, no other man can.

VERDI, Nevada, March 21, 1894.
EDITOR JOURNAL.—If your Verdi correspondent "had dust in his eyes and wax in his ears," as the Gazette Company says, when he saw and heard Mr. Dodge say that Senator Stewart had voted for the Wilson Tariff bill, it is, however, a satisfaction for him to know that he is not the only one so affected, for all, or nearly all, who attended the meeting on the evening of the 17th admit it. Even the members of the Republican Club do not deny it, but give as an excuse that the gentleman got mixed up in his argument. There are a number of responsible citizens who will make affidavit if necessary that Mr. Dodge declared that Senator Stewart voted for the Wilson bill.

Good Friday.
To-day is Good Friday, the anniversary of Christ's death. Its ancient title was "Holy Friday," or the Friday in Holy Week. The ritual observed in the Greek and Latin churches has special reference to the circumstances of Christ's death and entombment. Hence in all churches an altar is decorated in a separate chapel and called the "Sepulchre." Thither the Consecrated Host, or "body of the Lord," is borne in solemn procession on Holy Thursday; and on Good Friday morning it is brought in procession to the high altar, where it is incensed, offered to the adoration of all present and consumed by the celebrant. This is called "Mass of the pre-sanctified," or pre-consecrated bread, as the eucharistic elements are not consecrated to-day. Bells and organs are silent, and from early times courts of law have been closed on Good Friday. In many of the States Good Friday is a legal holiday, as well as a fast day.

A week ago S. T. Harrington lost a fine cow which he supposed had strayed from his place. Yesterday he was informed that the cow was at Verdi. He went to Verdi, identified the cow and ascertained that she had been stolen by a man named Jacob Morgan, who sold her to Mr. Miller of Verdi for $24. Last night Constable Dickey arrested Morgan, who is positively identified by Mr. Miller as the man who sold him the cow. Morgan will be examined to-day by Justice Linn.

Old Oleon.

A fair audience greeted Ole Oleon at the Opera House last evening. With the exception of Ole the remainder of the troupe were decidedly ordinary. The play has little plot in it to interest and no features that do not possess all the ear marks of antiquity. The humor was of the burlesque character and exhibited few artistic touches. Ole Oleon was an impossible Swede as indeed all of the characters were impossible persons. Parts of the play were of the old barn-storming variety. Ole's singing, however, was excellent and a Swedish yodel song of his was superb.

DISSENTS FROM DR. HOGAN'S VIEWS.

EDITOR JOURNAL.—Dr. Hogan's study of finance has brought him to the place where every man must land who embraces the theory that money obtains its value from legislation instead of from the materials out of which it is made. He says in his last letter:

A piece of standard gold weighing twenty-five and eight-tenths grains is the money of the United States, which by law is declared to be of the value of one dollar.

The law does not say the value of the piece shall be one dollar, it says the name of it shall be one dollar and it leaves to commerce and the needs of business the regulation of its value.

A SNEEZING BEE.

Red Pepper Was Thrown on a Hot Store
With the Regulation Results.
Some one threw red pepper upon a large store in Tappen's billiard rooms at Patzobogue, N. Y. The pepper started the habitues to sneezing, and they sneezed loud and long. The odor of the burning pepper soon drove everybody from the room.

The fumes rapidly spread through the building. The Order of Foresters was holding a meeting in the large hall on an upper floor. The members began to sneeze. They sneezed hard. The chaplain of the society tried to maintain the dignity of his position, but he, too, soon joined in the sneezing bee.

The assembly marched down stairs sneezing at every step. They were soon joined on the street by lawyers, doctors, editors, printers and business men, who had been driven out of their rooms in the building. The fumes were so strong that passersby had to walk on the opposite side of Ocean avenue.

The joke will cost Tappen the use of his rooms, as the owner of the building has notified him to vacate within 10 days. Tappen, it is said, will prosecute the perpetrator of the joke if discovered. - New York Times.

BALD HEADS!

What is the condition of yours? Is your hair dry, harsh, brittle? Does it split at the ends? Has it a lifeless appearance? Does it fall out when combed or brushed? Is it full of dandruff? Do you scalp itch?
Is it dry or in a heated condition? If these are some of your symptoms be warned in time or you will become bald.

Skookum Root Hair Grower

is what you need. Its production is not an accident, but the result of scientific research. Knowledge of the disease of the hair and scalp led to the discovery of how to treat them. "Skookum" contains neither mineral nor dye. It is not a dye, but a deliciously cooling and refreshing tonic. By stimulating the follicles, it stops falling hair, cures dandruff and grows hair on bald heads.

Keep the scalp clean, healthy, and free from irritating conditions, by the use of Skookum Root Soap. It destroys parasitic insects, which feed on and destroy the hair.
If your druggist cannot supply you send direct to us, and we will forward propaganda receipt of price. Grower, $1.00 per bottle; 4 for $3.00. Soap, 50c.
per jar for $1.50.

Curiosity of Easter Day This Year.

Easter day falls on Lady day this year for the first time in the history of the United States. The last time these two days fell together was in 1742, and they will not clash again until 1951.
Lady day has somewhat lost its significance and importance of late years, and it has never been such a special day in this country as in some others where the lending and renting system is more general.

It is still, however, the first quarter day of the year, and although for convenience rents and premiums are generally made payable on March 31 the law in some states still recognizes March 25 as quarter day. Easter has to fall exceptionally early to come into contact with Lady day, and the coincidence will cause inconvenience in countries where a legal holiday and a legal payday will be simultaneous. - St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Against the House of Lords.

The parliamentary committee of the trade unions congress, which is the cabinet of the British Liberal party, has been holding several secret sittings in London, making preliminary arrangements for the great demonstration in Hyde park against the house of lords.
The announcement of the subject will be publicly made as soon as the peers have finally finished with the employers' liability bill, and the killing of that labor measure will be made the pretext for the promised display, the dimensions of which will probably exceed anything of the kind in recent years.
The London trades council is prepared to march 250,000 men into the park, and there will be imposing delegations from the provinces. - London Cable.

A Detective Followed a Man Seven Thousand Miles For Stealing $5.

Seven thousand miles for a prisoner was the record made by Postoffice Inspector G. H. Waterbury, and his story told in United States Marshal Haskell's office rivaled in interest the tales of some of the great French detectives.
The national government never forgives
a crime, no matter what the circumstances, and cold blooded justice is always demanded. In Haskell's private office was seated W. Y. Dressler, a young man belonging to one of the best and wealthiest families in Hanoverton, O. Last summer Dressler was traveling with T. R. Howard of Kansas City and George Hartson in New Mexico, and Howard confided to his friend that his mother was to send him a money order for $5. They were in Albuquerque at the time, and Dressler got the letter, opened it, forged Howard's name and stole the money.

The postoffice authorities were notified, and on Oct. 13 Dressler fled from Albuquerque with Waterbury, one of the ablest detectives in the secret service, on his trail.

"I chased him to Los Angeles," said Waterbury, "and there I lost him, but I got trace of him in Santiago, where he had a merry life. I reached San Francisco early as soon as he did, but he was away like a deer, and I entered Yuma just as he was leaving. From there I followed him to Tucson, but he dodged me, and I lost him, but he was in El Paso, Tex. From there he jumped to Texarkana, and then disappeared to your Ohio. I communicated with Marshal Haskell. He detailed a man, and together we journeyed to Dressler's home, arresting the young man in his father's house." Dressler will be taken to Denver for trial. - Cleveland Leader.
